Illinois Legion Withdraws Girl Scout Support

Convention Gives Senator McCarthy Vote of Confidence

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy said today the senators supporting a censure move against him are "nice little boys" who "don't have the guts" to do the job he is doing in fighting Communists.

The Wisconsin senator, addressing a convention session of the Illinois American Legion here, cited the case of Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, suspended Army employee, as evidence he is on the right track in his anti-Communism campaign.

Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.), in demanding Senate censure of McCarthy, cited the Moss case as one piece of evidence of McCarthy's alleged victimizing of innocent persons.

The Illinois legionnaires, in a stormy 90-minute debate, voted Friday to withdraw their support from the Girl Scouts of America until scout leaders eliminate alleged un-American influences from the organization's literature.

The Legion resolution charged the Girl Scouts organization with de-emphasizing Americanism in its 1953 handbook, and substituting United Nations propaganda. It also charged pro-Communist authors were recommended in a Girl Scout magazine. A scout official described the charges as "not true."

The legionnaires gave McCarthy a vote of confidence Friday night that praised him as a "leader in the fight" against communism.

Stronger Resolution Results

Delegates favored by voice vote a resolution against the Girl Scouts that they had earlier voted to reconsider. But the Legion's anti-subversive committee returned with a resolution that was "even stronger," said Chairman Edward Clamage.

In a noisy session it was approved by voice vote over the shouted objections of Lawrence J. Fenlon, Chicago attorney and former state Legion commander.

Fenlon said he has daughters in the Girl Scouts.

"How screwy can we get," he cried.

As adopted, the resolution said the "1953 handbook of the Girl Scouts gives United Nations and one-world citizenship precedence over American citizenship and the writings of certain pro-Communist authors" have been recommended in an official Girl Scout magazine as authentic historic material.

Two Authors Prompt Complaint

Edgar C. Bundy, Wheaton, Ill., member of the anti-subversive committee, said the writings of Langston Hughes and Dorothy Canfield Fisher have been recommended in The Leader, a publication for Girl Scout leaders.

Bundy said that Hughes has been cited 70 times by government agencies because of affiliations with Red front organizations. He said Miss Fisher had been cited 22 times.

Mrs. Florence Otto, Chicago, Great Lakes regional director of the Girl Scouts, called the Legion action "regrettable" and "simply not true."

The Legion resolution also recommended withdrawal of all support of the Girl Scouts until such time as the directors of the organization "give irrefutable proof to the American public that they have taken definite measures to eliminate these un-American influences from the Girl Scout handbook and publications."

Air in Mains Disrupts Du Quoin Gas Service

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A valve stuck at the Illinois Electric and Gas Company's automatic gas relay station early today and air was pumped into all the city's gas mains, knocking out service to about 900 customers for five hours. Company officials said service men will have to visit the homes of nearly all the gas customers to see that pilot lights are re-lighted and other necessary adjustments made in appliances. Some service men were being called in from other cities, they said. Most of the appliances were stoves and water heaters.

Take Two to State Farm

Two men sentenced to terms of 90 days on the state farm at Vandalia were taken to the institution today by Deputy Sheriff Lowden Perkins. They were John Overstreet, Harrisburg, sentenced for driving while intoxicated, and Alexander Herron, Chicago, sentenced for reckless driving and having no operator's license.

Fair to Close Tonight with Beauty Contest, Automobile Show

Will Crown New Miss Saline County From 19 Contestants

The 48th annual Saline County fair comes to a close tonight with the annual beauty contest and automobile show.

At the end of tonight's performance, scheduled for 8 p. m., there will be a new Miss Saline County, to be named from among the 19 contestants by impartial judges.

A good-sized crowd was on hand last night for the All-Star Talent show, which featured the music of Roland Fenton and His Dixieland Jazz band from Mt. Vernon for the first hour and southern Illinois talent the next. Fenton played the old-time numbers, most of them at their peak a quarter of a century ago. Hughie Walker was in charge of this program.

Sponsored By Jaycees

Tonight's finale, always one of the most popular events at the show, is sponsored by the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce. It was begun in 1949 and has been held every year since.

Nursery Owner Faces Prison, Fine for Fraud

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—James W. Owen, Bloomington, Ill., operator of a tree nursery business, faced a $1,000 fine today or five years in prison, or both, for each of 17 counts on which he was found guilty of mail fraud.

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie said, "I can find no escape from the conclusion" that Owen operated his business "to deceive the public."

Briggie, who heard the case without jury, handed down the verdict Friday after all-day argument from the prosecution and defense. The judge said he will fix sentence and hear argument on a defense motion for probation next Friday.

Owen was indicted in July, 1953, on charges that he bilked hundreds of customers through misleading advertisements about nursery stock and by stalling them off when they tried to get refunds. Owen was indicted on 20 counts. Two counts were withdrawn previously, and the government dropped a third during Friday's hearing.

The judge said evidence showed that much of the advertising Owen ran in newspapers throughout the country was intended for the "unholy purpose" of fraud and "the public received unmerciful treatment from him."

U. S. Dist. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. said that in 1952 alone, Owen grossed $3.2 million dollars and bought $1,900,000 worth of ads. Stoddard charged that Owen advertised "dwarf" fruit trees but sent customers only "seedlings," that he misrepresented "red African violets," and that he advertised tulip trees as three to five feet tall but mailed out trees eight to 18 inches tall.

Mediators Move Wage Talks to A-Plant Sites

AEC Turns Down Union Request to Help Settle Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Company and union representatives prepared today for a last-ditch, on-the-scene effort to prevent another strike at two vital atomic materials plants.

Federal Mediation Chief Whitley P. McCoy announced Friday night that company-union collective bargaining sessions in a lingering wage dispute will be shifted Monday to the atomic plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky.

High-level mediation talks between the CIO Gas, Coke, and Chemical union and the private contractor that operates the plants broke down here Thursday.

Appealed to President, AEC

The union appealed unsuccessfully Friday to President Eisenhower and the Atomic Energy Commission to help settle the dispute. The AEC turned down the request and informed sources said the White House will do the same.

Meanwhile, the union disclosed it has scaled down its wage demands from 21 cents to 15 cents an hour. Under its proposal, six cents would be retroactive to April 15 and four cents to July 12. The remaining five cents would be granted next Jan. 15.

The Union Carbide & Carbon Chemical Corp., which operates the plants for the government, has refused so far to budge from a recommended 6-cent increase.

In a telegram asking Mr. Eisenhower for his "personal intervention," the union said it was prepared to try to settle the five-month old wage dispute which led to a four-day strike last month.

AEC to Step In

It told AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss in another telegram that "we demand" that the commission "intercede in this dispute now in an effort to settle it."

"That would be far better than waiting until a strike is called and then acting as a strike-breaking agency," the union said.

This referred to the probability that the government may go to court for a Taft-Hartley anti-strike injunction to prevent a work stoppage. It was preparing to take this step when last month's strike was halted temporarily. It was said, however, that the administration has no present plans to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction until a strike threat becomes more firm.

Mrs. Wm. Roe of Stonefort Community Dies

Mrs. Nora Roe, 76, widow of William Roe, Stonefort RFD, died yesterday at 10 p. m. in the Lightner hospital.

She is survived by four children: Mrs. Edith Parks, Mrs. Opal Parson, Mrs. Martin, all of Stonefort community, and Mrs. Pearl Randolph, Mitchellville.

The body will lie in state at the Thornton funeral home in Stonefort until the funeral. Tentative arrangements are for Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Stonefort Baptist church. Burial will be in Little Saline cemetery.

Dies at Simpson

Mrs. Arista Johnson Kerley, 67, widow of William Kerley, died last night at her home in the village of Simpson.

The body is now at the Murrie funeral home in Vienna awaiting completion of funeral plans.

LT. CARL J. HAUPTMANN, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. E. Hauptmann of 316 West Church, has his flight surgeon wings pinned on by his wife, in a ceremony at Pensacola, Fla. Having completed 16 weeks of intensive specialized training in the medical phase of Aviation Medicine and six weeks of familiarization training in single and multi-engine aircraft and helicopters, he is now qualified for duty with the aeronautical organization of the Navy. His primary mission will include the selection and care of aviation personnel, the study of the aviator's operational problems, and continued research in the ever-expanding field of Aviation Medicine.

Senate Faces Threat of New Filibuster on Atomic Energy Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today faced the threat of a renewed filibuster on the administration's atomic energy bill. Foes of the measure, who staged the longest round-the-clock talkathon in Senate history in an effort to sidetrack it, talked of a new fight against the compromise bill voted Friday by Senate and House conferees.

The controversy centered around a provision of the atomic bill providing patents for private developers of atomic energy devices. Filibustering senators won their fight to force private concerns to share their atomic patents for 10 years.

But the conference committee went along with the House and rejected the plan. It provided however that applicants to build and operate atomic power plants would get priority if they agreed to share their patents for five years.

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Rep.), a mainstay during the original 12 day Senate talkathon, called for a new fight to reject the compromise bill.

"If the conference report is as bad as the unofficial reports about it would seem to indicate," he said, "I think it should be rejected and a fight to that end should be waged."

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.) said "We'll let the country know what the report is—particularly with reference to the shortcomings of the patent section."

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), a leader of the previous filibuster, called the conference report "icing on the giveaway cake—with raspberry flavor." He said the conference committee "ran out" on the patent section which is now worse than the Senate bill.

Gore said that if opponents are unable to defeat the report "We will surely and squarely place the responsibility on those who support it."

All indications were that opponents of the bill will fall short of the necessary votes to defeat the compromise bill. But they could further delay adjournment.

Continued has set casing on its No. 2 Leslie Stinson, 17-8-7e, to test shows of oil in the Palestine 1952-60 and 73-2004, the Tar Springs 2243-2301 and Hardinsburg 2372-39.

A two hour drill stem test on the Palestine gassed to the surface in eight minutes and recovered 50 feet of oil mixed mud with a bottom hole pressure of 975 pounds per square inch. A test in the Tar Springs sand recovered 1320 feet of gas, 32 feet of clean oil, bottom hole pressure 475 pounds. The Hardinsburg drill stem tested 55 feet of clean oil.

The No. 3 Stinson is a location which will probably start next week. In the same area, Byron Tucker and Bud Rue are drilling below 1500 on their No. 1 Watson, Hardy community, with Rucker's rotary rig.

Just west of them in 18, Pep Drilling and Frank King have installed pumping equipment to complete their No. 2 George Watson, in the Aux Vases sand 2924-38 after fracturing. It swabbed and flowed at the rate of six barrels per hour while testing.

South of these tests and just on the west suburbs of Eldorado, John Stelle and Associates are digging below 1800 with another of Rucker's rigs on their Bartok lease, an east offset to the No. 2 John J. Jones and a northeast offset to the discovery well.

Nash Redwine's No. 1 Ruth Stinson, is still pumping, testing in the Paint Creek sand 2706-26 and making very little oil with considerable amount of water. It was making about 12 barrels oil a day but has dropped off now.

Four miles northwest of Eldorado, Breuer and Robinson's No. 2 Woolard Heirs, SW SE SE is cleaning and testing the Aux Vases lime 2992-2917 after fracturing.

One mile north of Long Branch, the Arlenea Donovan No. 1 Anna Cole, 20-7s-6e, is still a location awaiting rotary rig to clean out and test an old abandoned hole of Murvin and Steber's drilled a couple of years ago.

The Calvert Drilling wildcat test, the No. 1 J. Bona, near Harco is still a location.

North of Eldorado, James R. Grandin has set casing on his No. 1 E. Kittinger and is cleaning out and testing with cable tools in the Aux Vases sand 2901-09 natural. The No. 1 and 2 D. Reeder are both locations to be drilled later.

Epileptic Seizures Fatal To Famed Quint

Was Found Wandering Streets In Daze Month Ago

MONTREAL (AP)—Two medical experts ruled today that Emilie Dionne, one of Canada's five Dionne quintuplets, died from the complications of a series of epileptic seizures.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, Quebec provincial government medico-legal expert, said a 1-hour 35-minute autopsy performed this morning by him and Dr. Paul Martin in the Montreal morgue showed that Emilie had had serious glandular trouble for several years.

"This girl suffered from epileptic seizures and she died from acute congestion of the lungs during one of them," Fontaine said.

"The seizures were due to glandular trouble, especially in the pituitary gland which is located at the base of the brain. This gland was enlarged and congested, and so were the thyroid glands and the adrenal glands."

Other sources at Ste. Agathe, Que., where the 20-year-old quintuplet died Friday in a Catholic institution, disclosed that Emilie suffered at least four epileptic seizures a few hours before she died. The last one killed her.

She suffered the first of a series of seizures in the kitchen of the convent at noon Thursday and fell and bruised her ankle. She was put to bed. At 11 o'clock that night she had another, at 3 a. m. Friday another, and a further attack two hours later, at a Ste. Agathe source said.

The source added that no doctor was called to attend her during that time and the first time one saw her was some time after she was dead.

Fontaine told reporters in Montreal after releasing the body to an undertaker "I heard from a member of the family that she was treated throughout her life for epileptic seizures. This was confirmed by the autopsy."

He said so far as the results of the autopsy were concerned, "Emilie Dionne died a natural death." A formal statement to that effect, however, will be up to the Ste. Agathe coroner, Dr. Jean-Louis Taitillon, to make.

Emilie was found dead in her bed Friday at L'Acueil Gai (The Happy Inn), a rest home operated by the Oblate Sisters of Immaculate Mary.

She had made application to join the Catholic order and was serving her probationary period at the time of her death. She was 20 years old.

Sister Cecile Beliveau, one of the nuns at the institution at Ste. Agathe, Que., said Emilie, always in frail health, suffered two fainting spells Thursday night and one Friday morning.

"She lost consciousness three times," Sister Cecile said. "The last time she never regained it."

But a physician was not called and so Emilie, who for most of

MAP OF NATIONAL PLOW MATCHES AND CONSERVATION DEMONSTRATIONS

SITE FOR NATIONAL PLOWING MATCHES—More than 100,000 people will witness the 1954 National Plowing Matches and Conservation Demonstrations near Olney in Richland County, Ill., Sept. 16, 17 and 18. This map showing the general site layout gives some idea of the scope of the three-day event. Thursday, Sept. 16, has been officially declared Youth Day with all students from schools throughout Illinois being invited to attend as special guests. Friday, Sept. 17, the State Plow Matches get underway and Saturday, Sept. 18, champion farmers from the mid-western states compete for the title of National Plowing Champion. Soil conservation demonstrations will be conducted on each of the three days to show the latest practices in land smoothing, terracing, surface drainage, farm ponds, etc.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

Where sheep are a part of the farm livestock program the pasture will fare better under mixed grazing with cattle. Sheep naturally are selective grazers and short croppers, tending to overgraze the more palatable grasses and skip over the unpalatable species. Continuous overgrazing of these more fast-growing grasses by either sheep or cattle eventually results in the disappearance of that kind of grass from the pasture while the less palatable species spread to predominate.

Problems such as the ratio of sheep to cattle and a system of control are yet to be worked out, but it has been found that introducing cattle on the grazing area does not necessarily mean a reduction in the number of sheep on the pasture. In fact, grazing conditions are improved from the standpoint of the botanical composition of the pasture and situations are more suitable for desirable grasses to spread.

It is a general rule that high quality cattle need higher quality feed than do low grade cattle. The investment is greater in the good cows but the income also is higher. Lightweight and young cattle usually are fed longer than the older, heavier type. The latter, therefore, must have a bigger price spread.

Making labor more productive is a goal of every good farmer. One-story barns, keeping roughness on a self-feeding storage basis, and using paved feeding floors make labor more productive.

An egg is 65 per cent water. It is obvious, therefore, that laying hens (as well as any other poultry) need a plentiful supply of fresh clean water at all times. The winter egg income depends on today's pullets, too. Their proper development requires having feed, a clean range, and water always available.

Small sapling trees may be found widely distributed at this time of year. If such a tree of a good variety for shade is growing where it may be wanted for future shade, save the small tree. Sometimes there is little thought ahead about shade, and because it takes a tree years to grow to full size, it often seems somewhat in the way while young. During the sapling stage is the time to shape and train the tree.

Today's observation: It is easier to kill a small weed before it does damage than a large one that already has.

Don't Mix

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—One and one sometimes equal more than two. A glass of milk is tax free, as is a scoop of ice cream, but mix them together and you have a taxable milkshake.

Remove Straw From Fields to Help Seedlings

CHICAGO—Agronomists recommend these steps for helping new legume-grass seedlings make fast, thick growth this summer after the small grain crop is harvested:

1. Remove all straw from your wheat fields after the crop is combined, except where the seeding is made up of sweet clover. By promptly clipping and hauling off the straw, you eliminate harmful shading and allow sunshine and air to reach alfalfa, red clover, Ladino and pasture grasses. This helps speed their growth and gets them well established before fall.

2. Unless the seedlings have had a full feed before planting, top dress with fertilizer high in phosphate and potash, after the straw is removed. This will give the small legume plants the nutrients they need to build husky, winter-resistant roots and thick, healthy "onions." Agronomists say it is particularly important to top dress the new seedlings if they were not fertilized before planting.

3. Watch for sweet clover beetles for they have been known to attack alfalfa and other legumes when the sweet clover is not present.

"Getting rid of the straw helps get rid of the danger from fungus and molds encouraged by the dampness under the straw, says the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. "These fungus and molds can sometimes destroy the new seedling."

If there is exceptionally heavy growth the new seedling can be clipped and the clippings removed—otherwise, grazing or mowing can weaken the plants and lower their winter resistance. The new legume seedlings should not be grazed until after October 10 or growth has stopped for the winter. The legumes need the fall months to store up in their roots the plant food needed to carry them over the winter and promote rapid growth the following spring.

The 179,000 rivets in a modern jet fighter would tower two and one-half times as high as the Empire State Building if placed on top of one another.

Fertilizer Use Continues to Grow

Saline County farmers helped boost Illinois' total 1953 fertilizer use to 1,533,394 tons, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a statement based on compilations by the University of Illinois' agronomy department.

Fertilizer use on Illinois farms has nearly doubled since 1949, according to the committee. In that year, the total was 897,966 tons.

Illinois farmers have been increasing their fertilizer use in recent years, says the committee, because they realize that:

1. Plant food is essential in any soil conservation program;
2. Fertilizer helps farmers grow more bushels of corn per acre, extra tons of hay and higher yields of small grains and field crops;
3. Fertilizer use helps them cut down production costs and increase their net profits.

Aug. 15 Deadline For ACP Practices

August 15 is the deadline for reporting practices carried in the Agricultural Conservation program for 1954 according to Raymond Alvey, chairman of the Saline county ASC committee.

Any farmer who has completed a 1954 ACP practice approved for his farm must turn in a report by the deadline date in order to receive credit and be eligible for payment. When coming to the office to make report the farmers must bring their approval which is also their application for payment, limestone tickets showing purchase of lime, statement covering earth moving costs, and also bring tickets for rock phosphate, potash and seed tickets used on pasture practices.

This August cut off date, said Mr. Alvey, is a new program feature and one that might easily be overlooked. Every cooperator should make certain that he has submitted the required report by August 15. Unless this is done approval practices will be cancelled and he may lose a payment which otherwise would be earned.

Test Soil Samples Now

You can beat the crowds at the soil testing laboratories this fall if you will take time and send in your soil samples now.

A. U. Thor, soil testing specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says soil testing work is light at this time of the year, and you will be able to get a report of the tests without unnecessary delay. The potash test requires 10 days to complete.

Most laboratories test fewer samples during the summer than at any other time. The number of samples starts to increase in late summer, and usually reaches a high level during fall and late winter months. At that time the soil samples often pile up, and you may have to wait some time for the test results.

For example the Soil Testing Laboratory at the University of Illinois received only 88 farm samples to test in June, as compared to an average of 625 for the first five months of the year. The situation is similar in other testing laboratories.

Thor points out that it will probably be less trouble to handle the soil samples now. Dry, loose soil samples will be easier to collect, and test, than muddy or frozen samples taken at other times of the year. Directions for taking soil samples can be obtained from county farm advisers.

The testing work can be done at one of the 80 county testing laboratories or at a commercial testing laboratory. Samples can be tested for limestone, phosphorus, and potassium to determine the amount and kind of fertilizer needed. The soil tests are good for five or six years.

Plan Carefully For Structures to Control Gullies

Plan and build structures for gully control that last for years.

Ben A. Jones, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says too many hastily planned and built—but expensive—gully-control spillways wash out in a few years.

It's better to wait even a year until you have complete plans than to rush into an expensive job that won't last. A well-built spillway or flume can pay for itself through the years in the soil it saves, Jones points out.

A gully-control structure must be built well enough to carry the volume of water that will run off the fields above it during the heaviest rain. Your county farm adviser or local soil conservation district can help you find out exactly what size you need to fit your own situation.

You can plan to build a sod flume, a concrete Missouri flume or a steel-reinforced concrete block notched drop spillway yourself under soil conservation district supervision. But you should probably let a concrete contractor build large, reinforced concrete structures.

In addition to building a structure of right size, you'll need to put it on solid ground, tie it into the soil with wing walls and a toe wall and back-fill it carefully. Seed grass cover immediately, and check after heavy rains so that you can repair settling or washing damage before it gets too serious.

For more information ask your county farm adviser for a copy of "Concrete Soil-Saving Structures." Or write for it directly to the College of Agriculture, Urbana.

Cancer Can Strike Farm Animals

Your farm animals can get cancer just as easily as you can, says Dr. C. C. Morrill of the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Illinois.

Cancer is a type of malignant tumor that eventually causes death unless it is treated in the early stages. No one is yet sure just what causes these growths to appear, although veterinarians know that some types of animal tumors are caused by viruses. Most forms of cancer apparently aren't contagious.

See your veterinarian at once if you notice any kind of abnormal growth appearing on any part of an animal's body. He may be able to save the animal by removing the tumor early. Otherwise, if the disease is malignant, it will spread through the bodies and eventually kill the animal.

Did you know that if a worm egg were as big as a kernel of corn, eggs produced by one worm would fill a pen six feet square and eight feet deep? You can see why it's important to keep small pigs off the ground in old hog lots. Move them to clean pasture and keep them there until they are at least four months old.

New Cattle Disease Appears In Illinois

URBANA—A new cattle disease is making its appearance in Illinois, reports Dr. P. D. Beamer of the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Illinois.

During the past two months, nine calves between six and 14 months old that had died of "mucosal disease" were sent to the College. Several of the owners of the seven herds from which these calves came reported that other calves had died after showing similar symptoms.

Symptoms of mucosal disease are somewhat similar to those of hyperkeratosis (X-disease) and virus diarrhea. Most cases occur during late winter and early spring.

At first, cattle develop a fever, which usually drops back to normal within a day or two. During the next three to 10 days, ulcers appear on the nose, muzzle, lips, gums, and tongue. The cattle have a bloody diarrhea, drool, go off feed and become run-down and emaciated.

Most affected calves die within 10 days of the time symptoms appear. So far the cause of mucosal disease is not known.

If these symptoms appear in your herd, call your veterinarian right away. He may be able to help you keep mucosal disease from spreading to other calves in your herd.

Swine Brucellosis Declines In Illinois

Veterinarians at the University of Illinois report less brucellosis in Illinois swine herds tested during 1953 than in 1952.

Practicing veterinarians blood-tested 34,401 animals for this disease in 1953. Of these swine, 5.4 per cent reacted to the blood test. The number of reactors has dropped steadily since 1950, when 12.4 per cent reacted to the blood test.

Illinois is one of the few states following the swine brucellosis eradication program, called Project 1046. The fact that only 1.6 per cent of the animals in herds enrolled in this project reacted to the blood test last year shows that many herd owners are making progress in eradicating the disease.

No reactor animals can be sold as breeding stock or exhibited. They can be sold only for slaughter under a new state law.

Swine brucellosis control in Illinois will mean more profitable production for the swine raiser and fewer cases of undulant fever caused by the swine type of brucellosis in humans.

Cut Dairy Feed Bill with Rye Pasture

Plenty of good pasture early in the spring will hold down feed bills. And fall-seeded rye may be just the crop to do the job for you.

J. G. Cash, extension dairy specialist at the University of Illinois, says rye pasture can go a long way in cutting feed costs. He gives the experience of one Clinton county dairyman as an example:

This dairyman seeded nine acres to rye in the fall of 1953 for spring pasture. When he turned the cows on to the rye this spring, he found that milk production jumped and his feed costs dropped. He pastured 17 cows on the nine acres, and they increased their milk production by 71 pounds a day.

With his cows on the good, lush growth, the dairyman stopped feeding hay and silage. In addition, he cut the amount of grain in half.

The same nine acres also supplied enough forage to fill his silo. He will feed the rye silage in July and August, when pastures are short, and have his silo empty in time to refill it with corn silage this fall.

To have good rye pasture next spring, Cash suggests seeding the rye in late August or early September of this year.

Cut Weeds and Save a Life

Lack of rain hasn't stopped weeds and brush from hiding country road intersections, and every "blind" corner is a potential killer if motorists crash because they can't see on-coming cars.

Cutting weeds and brush now, says Gordon McCleary, University of Illinois safety specialist, will take care of them for the rest of the year. What's more, you'll get many weeds before they've gone to seed.

For a really good job at intersections, cut the weeds inside the fence row, too. This will give drivers an even better chance to avoid a collision. McCleary offers this advice, too: It's better to be the first to trim up the corners than to have your neighbors shame you into following their lead.

BRUSHY

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Riegel attended the Ohio reunion Aug. 1. The place for the 35th annual Riegel reunion has been changed from Mt. Moriah church to the Galatia Methodist church Aug. 15, according to the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doran. All the Riegel relatives are urged to attend.

Otto Baker and his son, Bob and family, of Pontiac, Mich., have been visiting relatives and friends in these parts. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Baker Wednesday evening. Other guests were J. H. Baker of Lawrenceville, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Golliber, Mrs. Ralph Brown, Mrs. Robert Brown and son, Kirk, and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Small.

K. E. Patterson, Mrs. Bedie Harris and Mrs. John C. Small were Wednesday dinner guests of the Walter Patterson family honoring Mrs. Patterson's birthday.

The annual Home Bureau picnic of the Galatia unit, a delicious supper, was enjoyed at Karel park. The families of the following attended: Max Cochrum, Chas. Riegel, L. L. Riegel, Hobert Bond, Minard Hawkins, Joe Hatcher and John C. Small.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has announced the entry in the Federal court in Minneapolis, Minn., of a consent judgment terminating antitrust litigation against Investors Diversified Services, Inc. of Minneapolis, and several wholly-owned subsidiaries.

The defendants made mortgage loans on residential properties, mainly single dwellings.

The Government's complaint was filed on April 26, 1951, charging the defendants with unreasonable restrictions and monopolization of interstate commerce with regard to the writing, placing, and selling of hazard insurance to be maintained under the provisions of the mortgages, on the mortgaged properties.

The judgment terminates the objectionable agreements which gave the defendants the exclusive right to place hazard insurance; prohibits similar agreements in the future, and contains various injunctions safeguarding the borrower's free choice in selecting the insurance company to write the hazard insurance. The judgment also contains provisions to assure that the borrower is properly informed of his rights to select his own insurance company.

Bryant-Skaggs Marriage Solemnized At Taylorville Monday Night, Aug. 2

Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Skaggs

The First Presbyterian church in Taylorville was the setting for the wedding at 8 o'clock Monday night, Aug. 2, of Miss Suzanne Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Edmund Bryant, 400 North Cherokee street, Taylorville, and Thomas Reynolds Skaggs, son of Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Skaggs and the late Dr. Skaggs of Mountain View, Mo.

Boquets of white flowers adorned the church altar and the pews were marked with white satin bows centered with miniature bridal bouquets. Greenery, intermingled with candelabra holding tall lighted tapers, was arranged in the sanctuary to provide a background for the double ring ceremony which was performed by the Reverend Ernest W. Harbaugh.

A Bach organ recital preceded the rites with Miss Mary Elizabeth McAdam as the organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white, embroidered organza over white tulle. Her tiered fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of tiny white flowers of bride's roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Joanne Trissal of Chicago was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Osceola, Ark., Miss Joan Glascock, St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Mary Lou Axcell, Mardelline, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Evans, who for the past 12 years have lived in Alton, spent the past week visiting Mrs. A. W. Love, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hutchcraft, Mrs. Fronia Gibbs and other friends and relatives. Mrs. Love also had as a guest this week her daughter, Mrs. Juanita Maddox, who is employed as secretary to the director of government affairs of the Trans-World Airline in New York City, N. Y.

Mrs. Louise LaBaw left Friday afternoon to spend a week's vacation in Detroit, Mich., visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. LaBaw who have a new baby daughter.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Dixon and sons, Lester and Billie, Belleville, visited the past week with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Rodgers. Most of the time was spent at the Rodgers cabin, hunting and fishing. Mrs. Rodgers' daughter, Mary Hoover, who is bookkeeper at Barham-Green, joined them at the cabin several days.

Autopsy Fixes Cause Of Emilie's Death

Emilie had suffered fainting spells since she was three years old. As recently as last month she was found wandering the streets of Montreal in a daze.

Said She Was Lost
At that time she told police she became lost while on her way to Quebec City to visit her sister Marie, who quit convent life last month because of her weak physical condition and homesickness for her sisters and family.

Emilie and her famous sisters had observed their 20th birthday only two months ago, but all were away from their Callander, Ont., home at the time.

Emilie and two of her sisters, Annette and Cecile, were at the Institut Familial in Nicolet, Que., where they were all taking a course in domestic science. Yvonne was studying art at the Notre Dame Congregation in Montreal while Marie observed the day in the Quebec City convent where she had become a novice only four days earlier.

Sisters Heartbroken
At Corbeil, Ont., the four surviving sisters were reported heartbroken.

"They'll never be the same again," a close friend said. "The girls have taken it very badly," the girls' father, Oliva Dionne, said. "It's a terrible blow, especially since we had so little warning."

Dionne, 50, said his wife, Lizare, 48, was bearing up well under the shock.

A family friend said this was the first year the quint had been separated.

"I noticed a change in them even with the separation," he said, "and I doubt they'll ever be the same again now Emilie's gone forever."

Emilie's body, brought here early today from Ste. Agathe, the Laurentian Mountain retreat, where she died, will be taken later today to Corbeil, near the Dionne family home. She will be buried Monday.

Announce Marriage of Jean Baker to Roy Gish
Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Baker are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Jean, to Roy Gish of Indianapolis, Ind.

The wedding took place Wednesday, July 18, at 3:30 p. m. at the home of Rev. Nomas Summers.

The bride chose for her wedding an ivory satin suit trimmed with rhinestones with a pink hat and white accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds. Her only attendant, Mrs. Carl Winkelman, wore a pink summer suit with white accessories and a corsage of yellow daisies.

Carl Winkelman served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school and the Chicago School of Nursing. For the past two years she has been employed as office nurse to Dr. Arthur Franks Jr.

The bridegroom is employed by the Erinis Painting Co. of Indianapolis, Ind.

They will make their home in Indianapolis after a wedding trip in the Wisconsin Dells.

Miss Janet Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brosia Greer, 109 South Texas street, underwent major surgery yesterday morning in the Lightner hospital. Her room number is 211.

"Mother Has Fallen Asleep"
"Mother was tired and weary,
Weary with toil and pain.
Put away her work and glasses
She will not need them again.
Into Heaven's mansions she has gone,
Never to sigh or to weep;
After years with life's struggles,
Mother has fallen asleep.
On the hillside we have lain her
In the silent city to lie;
And although our hearts are broken,
We would not question why.
She does not rest 'neath the grasses
Though over her grave they creep;
She has gone into the Kingdom,
Mother has fallen asleep.
Beautiful rest for the weary,
Well deserved rest for the true;
When our life's journey is ended
We shall again be with you.
This helps us in our sorrow,
Then, why for her must we weep?
For in His word He has promised
He giveth His beloved sleep."
Sadly missed by husband, Children and grandchildren. 35-1

Legion Withdraws Girl Scout Support

During Friday's session the delegates also:

Approved unanimously a resolution criticizing successful efforts of national administration leaders to sidetrack a bill that would have provided a 10 per cent "cost of living" hike in pensions of disabled veterans and their dependents.

Passed by a vote of 1471 to 901, a resolution asking $75 monthly tax-exempt payments for all veterans over 60 and $80 monthly for all veterans over 65.

Recommended that all legionnaires express their belief in the "integrity" of ex-Communists who now are informers for the government.

Urged the Illinois Legislature to pass a "textbook evaluation" measure.

Recommended that all state, county, municipal and public school employees be required to take a non-Communist oath.

Recommended that the United States approve "a declaration of independence from the United Nations."

Demanding censure of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for permitting pastors from Iron Curtain countries to attend the forthcoming assembly in Evanston of the World Council of Churches.

Recommended passage of state anti-subversive bills.

Recommended a boycott of all movies and theater productions in which pro-Communists were involved.

And called for congressional re-introduction and passage of the Bricker amendment to limit the President's treaty-making powers.

Multimillionaire Astor Weds Despite Divorce Challenge

WASHINGTON (UP) — Multimillionaire John Jacob Astor III was married quietly Friday to a pretty blonde Miami Beach socialite despite a challenge to the validity of a divorce he obtained only two weeks ago.

It was the third marriage for 41-year-old Astor, whose fortune is estimated at 70 million dollars, and the second for his 26-year-old bride, the former Dolores Margaret Fullman.

Astor's second wife, the former Gertrude Gretsch of Brooklyn, has challenged the divorce he obtained in Mexico two weeks ago. His first marriage, to the former Ellen Tuck French, of New York, also ended in divorce.

The simple double-ring ceremony was performed at the home of a minister in nearby Arlington, Va.

They met on her birthday two months ago, at a party in his Miami Beach home. The new Mrs. Astor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fullman, moved from Long Island, N. Y., to an island off Miami Beach two years ago and Astor recently bought a home near theirs.

Mundt Criticizes Army Action In Peress Case

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) today accused the Army of inventing a "formula of innocence by diffusion" in listing 30 officers responsible for the promotion and honorable discharge of former Maj. Irving Peress.

He said instead he believes "one or two or three persons made the decisions" in handling the case of the Army dentist who refused to tell Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy whether he was a Communist.

McCarthy agreed with Mundt and said he intended to reopen the case which touched off his dispute with the Army. "We haven't gotten to the facts yet," he said.

The Wisconsin Republican has demanded for months that the Army and court-martial those responsible.

Merchants to Play Evansville Orkins Here Tomorrow

The Harrisburg Merchants meet the Evansville Orkins tomorrow afternoon at the town park diamond in quest of their fifth consecutive victory.

Either Bill McNew or Gene Trammel will take the mound for the locals with Dick Romonosky behind the plate. The Orkins battery is unknown, but reports from other teams in the area have been in praise of the Hoosier hurling corps.

The Merchants seem to have their trouble in keeping good short-stops. First Dick Odle was sidelined on medical reasons and Freddie Williams, who took over at short is considering a pro contract with the Mt. Vernon Kings. The local team is loaded with coming players this year and the local fans are urged to give these kids a boost.

'Enoch Arden' Captured After Gun Battle

LEXINGTON, Tenn. (UP) — An embittered "Enoch Arden" Korea veteran admitted after his capture that he "opened up" a gun battle which killed one police officer and critically wounded another.

James Cogburn, 32, his brother Roy, and another companion, James Chadwick, 38, were tracked down and captured late Friday hours after the shooting at the Henderson County court house.

Police said Patrolman Arthur Gurley was killed and Police Chief Clovis Stanfield wounded as they and other officers approached to take two pistols Cogburn wore during his unsuccessful race for sheriff.

Cogburn, who had run a poor third in the Democratic primary the day before, told officials he thought the election had been rigged against him and feared the approaching officers "meant trouble."

The gunplay caused about 150 persons standing on the court house lawn to take cover, one witness said.

As Gov. Frank Clement ordered highway patrolmen throughout a 100-mile radius to join a hunt for the heavily armed men many citizens armed themselves. Numbers of them were quickly sworn in as special deputies.

Cogburn became one of the nation's publicized "Enoch Arden" husbands of the Korean war when he returned from a Communist prison camp and found his wife Ava Nell, believing him dead, had married James Hern. She afterward divorced Cogburn and remarried Hern.

Sammy Miranda Named Coach At Galatia High

Sammy Miranda will be coach at Galatia high school this coming term Raymond Gardner, principal, announced this morning.

Miranda is a former Collinsville and Indiana university basketball star and it was reported earlier this week he would be grade school coach at Pinckneyville. However, recent developments reveal he was only considering the grade school post and was free to accept the Galatia coaching position.

His father-in-law was drowned in Indiana several days ago and the body was recovered just Friday. Miranda had been at his wife's home most of the week, but was in contact with the Galatia Board of Education and the announcement of his being hired was made this morning.

He and Mrs. Miranda plan to move to Galatia soon, Mr. Gardner said today.

Nash Plays Negro Nine At Paducah Sunday

The Nash baseball team travels to Paducah Sunday to meet the highly rated Negro Giants of that city. In a game played here a few weeks ago the Giants lost a thriller to the Harrisburg Merchants.

Either Parker or J. Nolen will start on the hill for Nash with Bledig or Wilson behind the bat. Other starters will be Ziegler, Karnes, Fulkerson, Shewmake, Harrison, K. Nolen and Sisky.

Game time is 2 p. m. at Paducah and all Nash players are asked to be at the town park at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Bannister and Landy Top Field For Mile Race

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP) — The foot race of the century came up today between the only two men ever to run the four-minute mile.

An eight-man field competes in the climax to the British Empire Games, but to the track world it's Roger Bannister against John Landy.

Bannister, the 25-year old British doctor, was the first to attain the miracle mile, being clocked in 3:59.4 on May 6. Forty-six days later, Landy, a 24-year old curly haired Australian, ran it in 3:58.

Their meeting today is a far cry from the only other time they faced each other. Two years ago in a qualifying heat in a European meet, Bannister finished third with Landy failing to qualify.

This time, Landy was installed as a 3 to 1 favorite, largely because he has much more of a "finishing kick" than Bannister.

But unless a dark horse creeps in, there appeared little chance that the miracle four-minute mark would be reached today. Both Landy and Bannister have made it plain that they are interested only in winning the race, not in setting a new record. This time, they say, they will watch each other and not worry about the clock.

They may have to worry about some of the other six-milers in the field, however. Their most serious threat may come from New Zealand's Murray Halbert, who set an Empire record of 4:08.4 in winning the first of the qualifying heats Thursday for "the mile of the century."

Others in the field are Rich Ferguson of Toronto, noted as twomiler at the University of Iowa; David Law of England, Bill Baillie of New Zealand and Ian Boyd of England.

A crowd of 30,000, including the Duke of Edinburgh, is expected to see the race, scheduled for 5:30 p. m. EDT. It will be televised by the National Broadcasting Company and broadcast by NBC and Mutual.

Iowa Home Town to Celebrate Birthday of Former President Hoover

WEST BRANCH, Ia. (UP) — This small eastern Iowa town worked on final preparations today to greet Herbert Hoover and an expected 50,000 guests in celebration of the former President's 80th birthday.

Hoover, only living GOP ex-President and the town's "favorite barefoot boy" will return to his West Branch birthplace Tuesday. Townspeople have been working to have everything ready for the big event.

Churchwomen will serve 200 invited guests at an "old-fashioned Iowa dinner" with a menu that includes fried chicken, Iowa corn on the cob, tomatoes, apple sauce, a heaping relish plate and cake and ice cream.

The six-tiered birthday cake is being baked by Mrs. Harold Heick of Tipton. It will be a two-day job, she said, and two ovens will be needed. The cake will be ringed with 80 candles around the base and decorated with a gold figure "80" on top.

Cardinals Claim Dodger Hurler

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (UP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that the St. Louis Cardinals have claimed Ben Wade, 31-year-old right handed pitcher, for the $10,000 waiver price.

Wade appeared in 23 games for the Dodgers this year, all in relief, and had been with Brooklyn since 1952.

KID CASEY—This is what Casey Stengel, shooting for his sixth straight pennant with the Yankees, looked like when he reported to the Dodgers in the fall of 1912. Pipe the turtle-neck sweater. (NEA)

SPOTTY VICTORY—Tony Endlicher, 11, right, receives a trophy from Pat Braasch, after being named freckle champ at the Chicago, Ill., free fair. Pat was ineligible because she won the prize two years ago.

HIPPED—Martha Rocha, Brazilian runner-up in the recent "Miss Universe" contest at Long Beach, Calif., shows off the hips that some people say cost her first place in the beauty contest and may ruin her movie career. Miss Rocha says she could take off some of the weight, but says no one in Brazil has complained.

Sports Briefs

LIAMBURG, Germany (UP) — Budge Patty, veteran tennis star from Los Angeles, today occupied berths in the singles and doubles final of the German international tournament. In Friday's singles, Patty downed Lennart Bergelin of Sweden, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0, while Sven Davidson of Sweden whipped Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

HAMBURG, Germany (UP) — Herbert Schade won the 10,000-meter event in 29 minutes 30 seconds to feature the opening program of the 1954 German track and field championships Friday. Schade finished third in the 5,000-meter run during the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki.

OCEANPORT, N. J. (UP) — Walter Blum continued his excellent riding form at Monmouth Park Friday by piloting three winners on the eight-race card. The New York-born jockey won the Tireune ($820), Son Fen ($11), and Ascot ($27.40).

DETROIT (UP) — Gulf Stream, a consistent performer on the Midwest racing circuit this year, was favored to lead home seven rivals today in the $7,500 McQueen Memorial handicap at Hazel Park.

NEW YORK (UP) — Amory Haskell, president of the Monmouth Park race track, will serve as guest of honor at the annual Jockey's Guild dinner, Sept. 25, it was announced today.

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J. (UP) — Light heavyweight challenger Harold Johnson will spar four rounds today and Sunday as he completes his heavy training for his title fight with champion Archie Moore at Madison Square Garden next Wednesday.

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (UP) — Mardel Bailey, Fresno, Calif., met Dennis Bradshaw of San Diego, Calif., today in the finals of the eastern grass courts tennis championships for girls of 18 years and under. Miss Bailey gained the title round by defeating Manya Baumbacher of Salt Lake City, Utah, 6-3, 6-3, while Miss Bradshaw defeated Penny Winkler of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-0.

Kiwanis All-Star Nine to Play Herrin Team Here Sunday

A preliminary to the Merchants-Evansville game will feature a Herrin junior baseball club and an all-star squad from the Kiwanis league. Game time is 12:15 and all Harrisburg players are asked to be at the town park diamond at 11:45 a. m.

Members of the Kiwanis' league all stars are: Kinnaman, Hassett, Weatherly, Powell, Bishop, Cummings, Dunn, Price, Spurlock, McDowell, Barter, Alexander, Byron, Biggs and Jones.

Syndicate Seeks To Keep A's In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A newly formed syndicate of 15 Philadelphia businessmen, headed by a drug store chain executive planned today to offer the Mack family at least $4,500,000 to head off outside bids for the Philadelphia Athletics franchise and "keep the American League in this city."

Harry Syk, head of the Sun Ray Drug Co. and vice president of Philadelphia Radio Station WPEN, admitted that the profit motive, plus civic pride, is behind his group's surprise offer announced late Friday.

Syk said the combine, which includes wealthy realtor Albert M. Greenfield, hopes to meet with Roy and Earle Mack next Tuesday to combat the $4,500,000 bid by Arnold Johnson, Chicago real estate man who wants the club moved to Kansas City, Mo.

Neither of the Macks was available for comment on the proposed deal. Roy reportedly was off on a midwestern jaunt to confer with Johnson and possibly with American League President Will Harridge.

Last-Place Pirates Win Two from Cards; Dodgers Win, Cut Giants' Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Pardon that pandemonium in Pittsburgh, but the oft-punished last-place Pirates want the whole cockeyed baseball world to know they're on a dizzy three-game winning tear.

A stranger in the jubilant Pittsburgh clubhouse Friday night easily could have gotten the idea that the happy, back-slapping Bucca-neers had just clinched the pennant instead of merely having swept a two-night twin-bill from the Cardinals, 7-3 and 6-5.

The pair of triumphs over St. Louis gave the Pirates a three-game "winning streak" — their longest of the season — and the rare smile on Manager Fred Haney's face made him look like the cat that swallowed the Redbirds.

"Those two victories were like a breath of fresh air," said the happy Haney. "I just hope the boys can keep it up."

Whether the Pirates can or not, they certainly performed in championship style while notching their 36th and 37th victories of the campaign. Dick Littlefield, a refugee from the American league, registered his seventh triumph in the opener when Preston Ward and Frank Thomas smashed back-to-back homers in the seventh inning.

Then in the nightcap, rookie pitcher Laurin Pepper hurled two-hit ball until the Cards tied the game at 5-all in the ninth. Sid Gordon squeezed home Curt Roberts with a perfect bunt in the bottom of the ninth, however, to beat the Cards' new "stopper," Brooks Lawrence.

The Dodgers moved within four games of the top by beating Cincinnati, 8-1, while the third-place Milwaukee Braves beat the pace-setting Giants, 6-5, despite two homers by Alvin Dark and one each by Ray Katt and Dusty Rhodes.

Russ Meyer limited the Redlegs to three hits while Jackie Robinson paced the Dodgers' nine-hit attack on Art Fowler with a single, double and three-run homer.

In beating the Giants, the Braves snapped former teammate Johnny Antonelli's 11-game winning streak by knocking him out with a four-run burst in the fourth.

Southpaw Curt Simmons of the Phillies staggered to his 10th victory by outlasting the Cubs, 7-4. Howie Pollet's wildness helped the Phils to three runs in the first inning and they never lost the lead thereafter.

Gil McDougald's grand slam homer in the eighth enabled the Yankees to beat the Tigers, 4-3, but the Indians retained their 1-1-2 game lead in the American league race by licking the Athletics, 7-3, with the aid of a five-run rally in the second inning.

Homers Off Aber
McDougald's game-winning wallop came after a double by Bill Skowron and infield singles by Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer filled the bases. Al Aber served up the gopher ball that meant his sixth setback. Bob Nieman hit a pinch homer for Detroit in the bottom of the eighth off Johnny Sain. Marlin Stuart relieved Harry Byrd in the seventh and was the winning pitcher.

Mike Garcia scattered eight Philadelphia hits and gained his first victory since July 16.

The White Sox won their eighth straight game and stayed within five games of first place by beating the Senators, 10-5. Virgil (Fire) Trucks gained his 16th victory when Chico Carrasquel snapped a 5-all tie with a bases loaded double in the eighth.

Jim Piersall aboard in the 10th inning gave the Red Sox a 3-1 triumph over the Orioles. Ellis Kinder picked up his sixth win in relief.

Whether the Pirates can or not, they certainly performed in championship style while notching their 36th and 37th victories of the campaign. Dick Littlefield, a refugee from the American league, registered his seventh triumph in the opener when Preston Ward and Frank Thomas smashed back-to-back homers in the seventh inning.

THE PARABLE OF THE BIG TREES

Consider the giant redwoods and sequoias. How high they tower above the floor of the forest. And yet, beneath them ferns and shrubs and smaller trees grow and thrive in the sunlight that pours through the branches of the giants. So it is with you and me. We might think ourselves overshadowed by the giants in the earth—the people who are richer, or more powerful, or better educated than we. But the sunlight of God's love pours down upon the whole forest, and each of us knows its warmth and power. It doesn't really matter who we are, or where we live, or how much of this world's goods we possess. Each of us receives at the hands of God unmeasured blessings. And, every Sunday in Church, each of us has the opportunity to express his love for God in humble worship.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Choosing the Best'

Matt. 6:25-33; Philippians 1:9-11; 4:8

GOLDEN TEXT: "This I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; that ye may approve things that are excellent." (Phil. 1:9-10)

INTRODUCTION: Every day of our lives we have choices to make. In every choice there is need for wisdom. The greatest choice any person can make is to choose to surrender his life to Christ.

The Christian should choose daily and hourly to do the will of God. He has the responsibility to God and to the world of choosing the best at all times. Paul, the Apostle, put it this way: "I am debtor both to the Greeks and to the Barbarians, both to the wise and to the foolish." (Romans 1:14) He was saying that he owed it to Christ to always choose that which was best in order that he could witness daily for Him before a lost world.

I WHY WORRY? (Matt. 6:25-30) A person who is worried cannot always make proper decisions. It is of little use to tell one of these people not to worry, however. In this portion of God's Word we have an antidote for worry.

Jesus has just been warning against those who seek riches. (v. 19-24). Now, He turns to all those who are anxious about food, shelter and clothing for tomorrow. In substance He says, "why worry about the future? Do you not know that your Father takes care of the birds of the air and the flowers of the fields? Do you not know that if He does this, He will also take care of you?" Do you not know that life is more than food and the body more than clothing?"

Someone has said that "as far as is known, no bird ever tried to build more nests than his neighbors; no fox ever fretted because it had only one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay up enough nuts for two winters instead of one; and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he did not have enough bones laid up for his declining years."

II. TRUST GOD (Matt. 6:31-33) We have here a wonderful promise from God. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things (food, clothing and shelter) will be added unto you." God has never broken any promise spoken. His promise is as good today as it was when first recorded.

Notice that He says "seek first." He does not say "seek second" or "seek third" but He says, "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness." It is only on the basis of our keeping this part of the bargain that He is able to keep the last part and "add all these things unto you."

III. MAKE WISE CHOICES

(Phil. 1:9-11) "And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment; so that ye may approve the things that are excellent." Here the Apostle Paul is telling us that Christians should always love one another. This love will add to their ability to choose wisely. The world loves people like this.

IV. RIGHT THINKING (Phil. 4:8) Someone has said that "you are what you think." This one what thoughts you have when lying alone in bed at midnight, and I will tell you what kind of person you are. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Satan is constantly seeking to turn our thoughts toward evil. He knows that if we think evil, we will do evil. However, God is able to help us to think and do right. He has provided things good, and honorable, true and noble, which will satisfy both mind and heart.

CONCLUSION: We choose between right and wrong many times daily. Christ is ever ready to help us make right decisions. We need not worry about the necessities of life, because God has promised to provide for His own. We are to seek to do his will daily.

The world is wide
In time and tide,
And God is guide,
Then—do not hurry.
That man is blest
Who does his best
And leaves the rest,
Then—do not worry.
